

WHAT: CTIA is proud to present its first Wireless Recycling Workshop April 4th at the upcoming Wireless 2006® Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada, where the event takes place. Please join us for a discussion with key experts to discuss the several different types of voluntary, wireless take-back programs active in the United States including charitable donation programs, manufacturer and carrier take-back initiatives, consumer action and direct buy-back programs. Our panelists will provide insight and updates on the status of state and federal e-waste legislative initiatives that have implications for wireless, we will discuss ongoing efforts to develop best practices for e-waste recyclers and how these best practices might compare to the collection and recycling guidelines under Wireless...The New Recyclable™. We will also discuss the most recent developments under the Basel Convention Mobile Phone Partnership Initiative, the status of WEEE and RoHS compliance deadlines in Europe, and new e-waste initiatives underway in Canada, Latin America and Asia that could impact the wireless industry.

Speakers include representatives from: the U.S. EPA, NERC, Inform, eBay, Electronics Industry Association, Noranda, Cingular, T-Mobile, Verizon Wireless, Motorola, Nokia, ReCellular and more.
